

Bryan Silas Battles to the Front in Mansfield

(Mansfield, Ohio - 6/21/09) - Saturday night Bryan Silas more than proved that he is worthy of being in the championship chase. Bryan's day began with a challenging practice. A very tight racecar prevented Bryan from showing his short track ability. After a few changes, Silas's car improved in qualifying, giving him a fifteenth place start.

"The day started rough. We made some wrong adjustments in practice," commented Silas.

Once the sun set the battle was on. Bryan fought hard to get into the top ten, holding his own against veterans like Frank Kimmel. Although his car was tight in the beginning of the race it freed up as the race went on. A mandatory caution was to take place by lap 190. Silas pitted twice to help him adjust the car to his style. Taking on two tires during a late race pit stop put Bryan in position for a great finish.

At the end of the day Bryan Silas had driven his Rockingham Speedway / PBG Chevy from fifteenth to eighth place, avoiding a lot of the demons that plagued many other championship contenders.

"Mansfield is a tough track. That is the hardest eighth place finish I have ever gotten. I really have to thank my sponsors and my team for never giving up on me," said Silas.

Bryan's next race will be held at Iowa Speedway on 7/11/09 with live coverage on arcaracing.com.
